AWE Teams Up for “Seussian” Art at Milwaukee’s Central Library

Born on March 2, 1904, Theodore Seuss Geisel stole the hearts of children with the quirky characters and whimsical illustrations from more than 50 books he wrote and illustrated. To celebrate what would have been his 106th birthday, Artists Working in Education is collaborating with the Milwaukee Central Library Sat., March 6 for a fun-filled day where children’s imaginations and creativity can run wild.

Families are invited to create Seuss inspired art with AWE’s professional artists and volunteers, who will provide activities at three different tables. Using colorful pom poms, pipe cleaners and feathers children can create their own Dr. Seuss inspired landscape. Kids will be able to create their own crazy character using giant stamp pads, paper and silly handmade stamps. Children will also become their own author as they build and illustrate their own “Seussian” story.

The Central Library, 814 W. Wisconsin Ave., opens at 9 a.m. The event takes place from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. For more information about the celebration and other activities offered for families, please call the library at 414-286-3000 or visit www.mpl.org/file/kids_seuss_index.htm.

Artists Working in Education, Inc., founded in 1998, is a non-profit organization whose mission is to provide youth in the Milwaukee area with arts enrichment programs to enhance human potential, advance learning and cultivate community. For more information about AWE's programs, or to hire the Truck Studio for an event, please visit www.awe-inc.org or call 414-933-3877.
